

I wish that you would listen to the people of XM. You probably have no idea what a commute is. I drive a minimum of 3 hours to and from each day. I really find the traffic updates to be helpful and make it easier to find alternate routes on the crowded streets of Dallas. Why do the other radio stations (non-XM) get to broadcast their traffic reports? All the news stations have helicopters and doplar radar for traffic and weather. XM is giving us the same information in our car at our fingertips. This is supposed to be a lame duck period anyway so why are you bothering with this now?
